Touch monkey meaning

The title card for Saturday Night Live's Sprockets, with the headline on top over a flash nuclear explosion. Mike Myers as Dieter. Sprocketing was a recurring comedy sketch from the NBC television series Saturday Night Live, created and starring comedian Mike Myers and portraying a fictional West German TV show. The show parodied German art culture in the 1980s. Originally created by the Toronto company's Second City comedy troupe, Myers later ported the character in television's Canadian sketch comedy show It's Only Rock & Roll and American sketch comedy show Saturday Night Live. Myers played Dieter, a bored, disaffected West German expressionist and minimalist who interviewed celebrities who he was demonstrably barely interested in, and then always tried to bring a discussion around his beleaguered monkey, Klaus, sitting on a platform atop a miniature column. Myers has claimed that he was based on a character he met, working at Cameron House in Toronto, as well as german musician Klaus Nomi.[2] (after he named the monkey). Appearing effeminate (her 1997 return as host Myers introduced her lover Helmut, played by Will Ferrell), Myers's Dieter costume consisted of: black leggings in a matching turtleneck sweater; round wire-rimmed glasses; slippery hair. On several occasions, the sketch featured a section titled Germany's Most Disturbing Home Videos. It presented scenes such as: the old man's head spinning around; a thick man, clad only in a diaper, cavorting in a lawn sprinkler; man vomits after throwing genitals; a seemingly lifeless body with an ant on its face; a man's pants fall down in public while he and his girlfriend look at an art gallery (a man wears a thong). The theme song sketch was Kraftwerk's 1986 song Electric Café, sped up playing 331/3 rpm album at 45 rpm, then looped. [quote needed] Recurring and memorable quotes from sketches include: 'You've bothered me almost to the point of insanity... There. I'm crazy now. Touch my monkey! and Liebe meine Abschninke! (Love my makeup remover! -but it sounds like a plausible German word for monkey English only speakers), a recurring reference to Dieter's pet monkey, Klaus. Dieter told his guests that touching klaus was a privilege, but Klaus often bit them when they tried to. Your story (questions, setup) has become tiring when Dieter became - inevitably - a bored guest. I'm as happy as a little girl while squeezing my shirt. This film (poem) looks at me when I'm naked and invites my friends. Her agony was beautiful... I have to spank you. I'm full of anticipation (regret) and it's the most delicious. This poem (film) pulls down my pants and over me. But not in a mean way. Your presence scares me to humiliation. Would you like to hit me? Karl Heinz, you're beautiful and the corner... And if you were gas, you'd be inert. I feel emotionally destroyed. Now it's time for Sprockets when ve dance! It was always uttered frantically at the end of the sketch ... After which several Sprocket team members, dressed identically as Dieter, joined him on stage and jerkily danced techno music. (Techno music was another looped sample electric café, played at 45 rpm.) Some of the later sketches featured Dieter outside his talk show environment starting in parodies of game shows, TV dance parties and art films. The list of SNL episodes featuring Dieter All appearances was in the form of Sprocket shows, except when noted.

Less than a week after Myers informed Universal Pictures of its decision, the studio sued Myers for $3.8 million in pre-production costs. A month later, Myers was struck by another lawsuit, this time from Imagine Entertainment, alleging that He [Myers] claimed he had not approved the manuscript. Who wrote the screenplay--Myers, Imagine claims Myers backed down after that and Universal agreed to pay more and millions of dollars were spent This was not the first time Myers engaged in such behavior, the suit alleged. He has followed the pattern and practice of breaking his promises, betraying the trust of others and inflicting serious harm on those with whom he engages in selfish, egomaniacal and irresponsible behaviour. Imagine the lawsuit sought more than $30 million in actual damages plus punitive damages. Myers later opposed both parties, and both cases were later settled out of court, after which Myers and Welch agreed to make another film to replace both Universal and Imagine's Dieter movie, this film became Cat in a Hat, directed by Welch, was released three years later in 2003. My context: the man says he doesn't mind if his ex-girlfriend is with another man. He's not with a guy. He's with Cooper. They touch monkeys, whatever they call it. I must add that her ex and her new boyfriend met and chat online. Last edited by moderator: March 13, 2010 Bonjour. Selon Urban Dictionary (dictionnaire en ligne très utile d'argot anglo-saxon !), touch monkey peut vouloir dire se masturber. je pense que ça meet au contexte ! I actually look up to UD but the words touch the monkey: it doesn't give me any definition. Thank you very much for your reply. I translate something like this: they play pee-touch by interposed computers. You must sign in or register to reply. It's not going to be.
